For use in professional vehicle repair workshops or your converted garage
This fender cover offered by Rameder protects what you love most from destructive scratches

What a horror scenario! If you accidentally scratch your car's paint while you work in the engine room, the catastrophe is perfect. It is even worse if it is a professional workshop and a customer vehicle. The fender cover from Rameder (12.99 Euro), available to order in our online shop at www.rameder.eu, such accidents can be easily avoided.

Rameder, Europe's market leader in trailer towbars and transport solutions, has specialised in useful accessories for the car. Of course, vehicles sometimes suffer from minor injuries or signs of wear that require repair. To avoid collateral damage to the sheet metal when working in the engine compartment, Rameder has a practical fender saver in its range of products offered. This ensures stress-free work without the possibility of scratches resulting from contact with belt buckles, jeans rivets or even tools. The high-quality synthetic leather of the fender saver optimally protects paint and sheet metal. In addition, it adapts perfectly to the sheet metal contour and can be easily and quickly fastened by using a set of weights. The incorporated foam pad is particularly gentle to the paint. Besides, the fender saver is water, dust, dirt, grease and oil repellent and easy to clean. Thus, all the necessary "operations" succeed completely carefree, so that the vehicle looks like new after leaving the workshop, without any optical flaws.

The Rameder range of products available online at www.rameder.eu contains numerous car products. The large stock of 137.000 products guarantees a short delivery time. Definitely worth a visit!
